FULL SERVICE HISTORY

16" ALLOYS

Registered in 1984 this 928 S is a rare 5 speed manual transmission example, finished in grey/brown metallic paint with Linen cloth seats. Featuring air conditioning, 16" alloy wheels with Porsche crests, 6-way electric front seats, electric windows and mirrors. The 928 was the first production V8 powered car for Porsche and remains the only front mounted V8 model produced by the company. Introduced at the 1977 Geneva motor show, it was intended to supersede the iconic rear engine 911, introducing a more refined and poised sports car with the comfort of a GT car. It remained in production until 1995 & boasted many interesting design cues, for example it was the first vehicle in which the instrument cluster would move with the adjustable steering wheel giving optimum instrument visibility to the driver. Within its construction of galvanised steel there also included a large amount of aluminium, used for the doors, bonnet & front wings, (...)
